

History of the Hermosa Inn

Lon Megargee skillfully captured Arizona's history with the stroke of his brush, offering a glimpse of the days when cowboys roamed the vast Southwest desert. A jack of all trades, Megargee lived his colorful life to the fullest, working as a cowpuncher, bronco buster, fireman, poker dealer, home builder, exhibition roper, and accomplished artist.

Dubbed the Zane Grey of cowboy artists by Arizona Highways Magazine, Megargee was commissioned by Arizona's first governor, George W. P. Hunt, to create several murals for the state capitol building, which remains to this day. His other famous works – many of which adorn the walls of the resort and restaurants – including Cowboy's Dream and Last Drop from his Stetson cowboy hat.

With its unmistakable charm and style, his Casa Hermosa (beautiful house) was influenced by Mexican and Spanish architecture. It is now the site of the acclaimed restaurant LON's at the Hermosa and its bar and casual dining counterpart LON's Last Drop.

Código 1530's tequila begins with fully-matured agave, cooked in stainless steel ovens, fermented utilizing an organic family baker's yeast in Amatitán, and distilled twice in stills handmade by the distilling family themselves. Here at Lon's we have procured our own barrels of the Blanco and Reposado, so our Código has a flavor as unique as Lon himself.
